

CONECTA FICTION MOVES TO PAMPLONA

👤 Kristin Brzoznowski 🕒 2 days ago 📁 Top Stories

The third edition of Conecta FICTION will be held in Pamplona, Navarra, Spain, from June 17 to 20.

The event—which promotes networking, fiction co-production and exchange of talent between America and Europe—will be hosted by the Congress Centre and Auditorium of Navarra, also known as Baluarte.

The 2018 edition of Conecta FICTION took place in Santiago de Compostela, Galicia. It drew more than 530 professional attendees from more than 20 countries.

Géraldine Gonard, director of Conecta FICTION, said: “Conecta FICTION is much more than an event, it is a tool and a community that promotes the collaboration between fiction industry professionals from many countries. Navarre and its capital Pamplona are a new meeting point with a magnificent potential for development that we are sure Conecta FICTION can help achieve.”

Manu Ayerdi, VP of the Navarra Government, said: “We are very pleased to host this event in Pamplona. We are aware of the importance of Conecta FICTION in the sector of co-production of TV series and miniseries. We firmly believe that the celebration of this edition is an excellent opportunity to spearhead the position Navarra has in the international audiovisual sector, to generate business in the region, contributing to the development and internationalization of the local sector, promote shootings and new companies. The audiovisual sector is a priority for our territory and with the celebration of Conecta FICTION we strengthen our commitment to it.”

<https://worldscreen.com/tveurope/2019/01/22/conecta-fiction-moves-to-pamplona/>